T cell receptor beta gene restriction in a unique EBV associated infectious mononucleosis in New Zealand. A 23 year old male had been suffering from a prolonged cold-like illness with a generalized lymphadenopathy, fever and symptoms of a viral infection for the preceding 3 months. The symptoms progressed and on admission his physical condition was very poor and he had severe depression. The lymph node biopsy showed immunoblastic lymphadenitis and the peripheral blood demonstrated atypical lymphoid cells. During the early phase of the illness, his serum contained high titres of antibodies to EBV but this had disappeared before lymphadenopathy developed. Lymph node biopsy was repeated after the patient's physical condition had improved and there was no evidence of EBV by immunocy

Q: ShinyMobile sliders (multiple sliders at the same time) with Reactive SliderInput Is it possible to have a reactive sliderInput with multiple values? Lets say for example, I have two color variables, one for an item background color and another for a hover color. I'm currently using one sliderInput for both variables. But I want to be able to control the background color, and the hover color, with one sliderInput, instead of two. Below is a simplified example. I have a UI with two sliders that control the background and hover colors of a plot. I want to be able to change the background color with sliderInput$value1, and the hover color with sliderInput$value2. I also want to have it so that changing the background color also changes the hover color. server 77a5ca646e
